Project Description:

Each late winter/early spring, Good Way Farm launches a free seed catalog available for local delivery in Douglas County, Kansas, or mail order throughout the United States. We source parent seeds that are open pollinated, often heirloom varieties from all over the world.

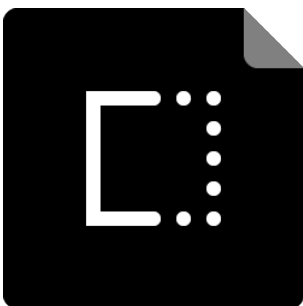

We acknowledge that we do not have all of the lineage information that may still be known regarding the history of these varieties, sometimes handed down through millenia in Indigenous communities throughout the world. We share what we know and deem appropriate in as accessible a format as possible to those visiting our web page and those choosing to grow out our seeds.

We are open to and excited about growing our knowledge of these seeds as well as their people, up to and including changing how we share them.

Project Notices

Attribution Incomplete Notice

Collections and items in our institution have incomplete, inaccurate, and/or missing attribution. We are using this notice to clearly identify this material so that it can be updated, or corrected by communities of origin. Our institution is committed to collaboration and partnerships to address this problem of incorrect or missing attribution.

Biocultural Notice

The BC (Biocultural) Notice is a visible notification that there are accompanying cultural rights and responsibilities that need further attention for any future sharing and use of this material or data. The BC Notice recognizes the rights of Indigenous Peoples to permission the use of information, collections, data and digital sequence information (DSI) generated from the biodiversity or genetic resources associated with traditional lands, waters, and territories. The BC Notice may indicate that BC Labels are in development and their implementation is being negotiated.
